re:constitution Fellowships 2024/2025

Call for Applications - Track 2

Exchange and Analysis on Democracy and the Rule of Law in Europe

re:constitution is a joint programme of Berlin-based Forum Transregionale Studien and Democracy Reporting International, funded by Stiftung Mercator. Forum Transregionale Studien invites applications for 15 Fellowships in two tracks for the period from October 2024 until July 2025.

Important! This Call for Applications outlines the re:constitution Fellowships in Track 2 (5 Fellowships, open to practitioners only). These 5 Fellowships anticipate that Fellows will spend a mobility phase of 3 months (or 6 months part-time) at ONE host institution during their time as Fellows. Please find all information on re:constitution Fellowships in Track 1 (10 Fellowships, open to practitioners and scholars) in the Call for Applications for Track 1.

Deadline: 3 April 2024, 12 noon CEST

Stipend: € 2.500 per month during mobility period between October 2024 and July 2025

What is the re:constitution Fellowship?

The rule of law guarantees democracy and the respect of fundamental rights such as freedom, equality and dignity. A growing European Union needs to rest on a broad consensus of the rule of law and its components as primary common principle ensuring legitimacy and stability in Europe. In light of the existing and future challenges in the European Union and its neighbourhood, re:constitution tries to strengthen the common ground for the rule of law and democratic principles by encouraging pan-European mobility, debate and the formation of a network of scholars and practitioners of law and democracy. Since 2019, re:constitution annually awards Fellowships to early-career scholars and practitioners to work on personal projects related to the rule of law and democracy in Europe. The programme enables Fellows to contribute to the debate on the state and future of the constitution of the European Union, encourages exchange and debate across and within national positions in the Union and its neighbourhood, across academia and practice. Based on a unique concept centred around mobility for collaboration combined with opportunities of exchange and a European Alumni Network, the Fellowship programme is designed to contribute to safeguarding and strengthening the rule of law, democracy and the respect of fundamental rights.

How is the re:constitution Fellowship structured?

The re:constitution Fellowships are designed for both academics and practitioners and will be awarded for the period from October 2024 to July 2025. Track 2 directly addresses applicants working in practical work environments due to its flexible design and shortened mobility period, enabling practitioners to better accommodate individual professional requirements and personal circumstances. All Fellows will have equal access to all parts of the programme and together they will constitute the interdisciplinary and international re:constitution cohort of 2024/25.

TRACK 2 - Shorter mobility period with part-time option

5 Fellowships available

Stipend

2.500,- € per mobility month to cover 3-month full-time, OR

1.250,- € per mobility month to cover 6-month part-time mobility phase.

Mobility period of 3 months full-time (or 6 months part-time) to be taken flexibly between October 2024 and July 2025

Research stay at ONE host institution in EU / non-EU EEA / EU candidate countries / UK or CH during mobility period, with a duration

- a) of 3 months on full-time basis, OR
- b) of 6 months on a part-time basis.

The location of the host institution must differ from the country of residence during the time of the Fellowship. Since the Fellowships are designed to converge academia and practice, we encourage practitioners to approach host institutions in academia if beneficial to their projects.

Participation in at least 2 out of 3 Fellows' Exchange Meetings. Attendance of the first in-person meeting in October 2024 in Berlin is mandatory. Subsequently, Fellows should attend at least one of these remaining meetings:

- Second meeting: February 2025 online,
- Third meeting: June 2025 in-person outside of Germany.

Presentation of re:constitution research project in Online Fellow Talks series, participation in full series optional, but appreciated.

Who is eligible to apply?

re:constitution invites applications from residents* in the European Union, non-EU EEA countries, EU candidate countries in active accession negotiations or pursuing the start of negotiations,** as well as from residents in Switzerland and the United Kingdom in the early stages of their careers in practical environments concerned with the rule of law or democracy as

- Government officials (e.g. policy advisors) from central authorities and local self-government bodies,
- Judges, magistrates, prosecutors, law clerks and other legal professions or practicing lawyers (attorneys)
- NGO/think-tank legal/policy experts working on rule of law and democracy in Europe,
- Journalists reporting on the rule of law and/or democracy in Europe,
- General researchers/legal experts working on questions pertaining to the rule of law and/or democracy in Europe.

This list is non-exhaustive. We strive for a diverse cohort of Fellows from academia and practice with similar backgrounds and experience levels, but do not expect Track 2 applicants to have a PhD.

What are the benefits of a re:constitution Fellowship for practitioners?

Time and independence to dedicate to researching a project of choice connected to democracy and the rule of law in the EU – a kind of “mini-sabbatical”.

Funding for mobility to collaborate with a Europe-based host institution, offering personal and remote work and exchange opportunities for project-based research.

Exchange and debate across professional backgrounds on topical projects in a high-quality and flexible environment of mutual learning and debate among scholars, legal practitioners and journalists from across Europe.

Networking through multi-faceted exchange about democracy and the rule of law in personal meetings and trainings with leading experts and decision makers from across Europe and different backgrounds offering diverse perspectives.

Shaping the future re:constitution alumni network to build a sustainable community of knowledge with potential for further collaboration and support.

* It is important to be a resident of one of these countries for the duration of the Fellowship. Citizenship in these countries is not required.

** „EU candidate countries“ in the context of the re:constitution Call for Applications include Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Georgia, Moldova, Montenegro, North Macedonia, Serbia and Ukraine.

Support by the coordination team and access to a secure digital collaborative working space provided by Forum Transregionale Studien.

Opportunities to become involved in the broader analytical work of the re:constitution programme run by DRI, based on interests and availability.

Training courses to promote Fellows' further career development, particularly in the areas of interdisciplinary, intersectoral or transregional competences or to expand methodological knowledge.

With accepting the Fellowship in Track 2, the applicants will agree

- ✓ to pursue an independent research project about an issue pertaining to the programmatic scope of re:constitution,
- ✓ to select one host institution in the EU, non-EU EEA, EU candidate countries, the UK or CH and to manage their own research stay of 3–6 months at this host institution,
- ✓ to attend the Fellows' Exchange Meeting in October 2024 (mandatory), February and/or June 2025,
- ✓ to present their project in the Fellow Talk series and ensure as much participation as possible in the series to discuss other Fellows' research projects,
- ✓ to publish the project results and outcomes in a suitable format. These can be re:constitution Working Papers (for any academic papers) or alternatively, other output formats (e.g. policy papers, op-eds, reports, essays, podcast episodes, blog posts etc). Producing one type of outcome is the minimal requirement; further publication and dissemination is welcome. Please specify your preference/s in the application!

How to apply

Please submit your application via our secure online application platform by 3 April 2024, 12 noon CEST: <https://application.trafo-berlin.de/>. Please make sure to choose the correct Fellowship Track (1 or 2) when starting the application process. We only accept one application per person.

Important! Applications by e-mail will not be considered!

As part of your application, you will be asked to prepare and upload the following:

- Curriculum vitae including a list of publications (2-3 pages),
- Project outline (2-3 pages),
- Short abstract of your project (max. 300 words),
- Two references (university faculty members or practitioners in a field relevant to your project).
Please note: Letters of recommendation are NOT REQUIRED.
- Potential host institutions (your preferred host institution in Europe to spend your mobility period, ideally including an indication of preferred dates and/or existing personal contacts. By the time of submitting your application you are not yet required to organise your stay.)

The working language of re:constitution is English.

The diversity of our societies should also be reflected in the Fellowships. We therefore welcome applicants of all cultural and social backgrounds, ages, religions, world views, disabilities or sexual identities. The applications will be evaluated by an evaluation committee of scholars and practitioners working in the fields of democracy and the rule of law. All applicants will be informed of the outcome of the evaluation process by early July 2024.
